

I love Midtown because of its diversity of people, homes, shops, places to walk my dog, and because it is close to so much in our city--I can walk to downtown and the river as well as to many excellent restaurants along Broadway and Juarez Bakery and the cheapest liquor store in the city! I can also walk to the Minisa pool and when I feel energetic walk to the African American museum, central library, and the Red Cross to give blood. We moved here a year ago and am soooooo enjoying Midtown.

Gretchen Eick, Ph.D.
Professor of History
Friends University